MRS. KELLOGG, THE SAN FRANCISCO PROCUR- ESS, IN LOS ANGELES.

Good Grounds for Believing That She Is Negotiating for Quarters in Which to Open a Palace of Sin in This City.

"That is the woman," said a well-known peace officer to a reporter of THE TIMES yesterday, as a richly-dressed lady came sailing down Spring street. "Take a good look at her and I'll tell you something."

After the woman had passed beyond earshot, he continued: "I'll take my oath that she is Mrs. Ida Kellogg, the infamous procurer who has just been driven out of San Francisco. I saw her once upon a time in the city, and if this is not the woman, then I have no recollection of faces."

Taking his cue from this suggestion, the reporter traced the woman up and found that she was stopping at a stylish up-town boarding-house, where she arrived Tuesday, and gave her name not as Mrs. Ida Kellogg by any means. She stated that she had been in the book-cannassing business in the East, and had been very successful in that calling. She had come to Los Angeles thinking that it would be a good place either to engage in that calling or to open a fine lodging-house. She obtained from her landlady some suggestions as to the location of new blocks in desirable quarters of the city, and when seen in the street yesterday had evidently been out on a house-hunting expedition. Certain statements made by the woman at her boarding-house failed to tally with reasonable hypotheses, and she is already regarded with suspicion.

The San Francisco Chronicle of last Monday contained the following account of the disappearance of Mrs. Kellogg from that city:

The late residence of Mrs. Ida Kellogg, alias Phillips, alias Davis, alias May, of 608 Jones street, is no longer occupied by that notorious woman and her mother, Mrs. May. Shortly after the Kellogg woman had been held in the Police Court to answer before the Superior Court on the charge upon which she was arrested, of harboring girls who were under age in her home of prostitution at 608 Jones street, the place was closed to all callers, and only such as were known to Mrs. May, the mother of the procurer, were admitted; to all others it was reported that the notorious Ida had gone to Oakland at one time and to Sacramento at another. But such was not the fact. At the time Mrs. Kellogg was leisurely engaged in packing her trunks and getting her effects into such shape as to enable her to leave San Francisco.

Last Tuesday, accordingly, she had her trunks placed on an express wagon and taken to the Oakland ferry, where she shortly afterward joined them, and bade adieu to the city and her $2000 cash. Two days after the departure of the woman her mother, Mrs. May, called on a second-hand furniture dealer, to whom she sold all the furniture and furnishings of the bungalow. The man to whom the sale was made boasted of the tremendous bargain he had obtained. He said that in all his experience in the furniture business he never had seen more elegant furniture than that he had just purchased. On Thursday last the house was stripped of everything, and the effects taken to an auction-house on Market street.

The news of the flight of the Kellogg woman and the removal of the furniture was reported to the police on Saturday, and Officers Holbrook and Anthony were at once detailed to ascertain the whereabouts of the woman. Up to the present time, however, the officers have been unable to trace Ida any further than the Oakland ferry.

Mrs. Kellogg had occupied the Jones-street house about three years. The patrons of the house had latch-keys, by which they were enabled to enter. At the street door was an electric bell, which communicated with Mrs. Kellogg's room, as did all the bells in the house.

The fat man, who was alluded to during the preliminary examination of the woman, had a private room and a key to the door. This honor was also bestowed upon a railroad man and a banker. Others, whose means did not justify the luxury of a private room and a key, were compelled to ring for admission, and he contended with a temporary room and transient accommodation.

After learning the above facts yesterday, a Chronicle reporter visited the residence of Senator J. N. E. Wilson, Mrs. Kellogg's attorney.

That gentleman was astonished to learn of the flight of his distinguished client.

"As a matter of course," he said, "I knew that the $2000 bail money was nothing from her standpoint, but I did not think she would run away."

"You mean from the standpoint of her male associates?" said the reporter.

"On that subject you must excuse me," answered the attorney.

"Suppose I should name a few of them, would you admit that my information was well founded?" queried the reporter.

"No, sirree!" responded the Senator.

"Did she intimate to you her fear of standing trial?" was asked.

"Not on the contrary, I told her I thought we might beat the case. There were certain matters we did not bring out on the preliminary examination that would be to her advantage upon a trial before a jury; but, of course, these I cannot disclose now."

Additional detective assistance was given Officers Holbrook and Anthony last night to work up a crew as to the whereabouts of the missing prisoner. Mrs. Kellogg has a sister at Sacramento named Sanders, whose husband committed suicide in the Sacramento River some time ago. The bail of the procurer cannot yet be declared forfeited, as her trial has not been set.

LOS ANGELES STREET.

Negro Alley an Obstacle to Its Opening.

The opening of Los Angeles street, which has been before the people for the past ten years, and which has been declared settled two or three times, it appears, is not finally settled after all. The last complication that has arisen grows out of the abandonment of Negro alley, and parties owning property on that thoroughfare are making a vigorous protest against the action on the part of the city, and threaten to go into court if their interests are not protected. Yesterday, quite a number called at the City Attorney's office to talk the matter over, but no definite conclusion was arrived at.

A TIMES reporter saw Mr. Daly last night, and, in answer to his question whether there was any legal obstacle in the way of the city going ahead with the work, said that there was not. All of the property owners having any claim for damages, including Mrs. Bigelow, had been paid every dollar that was due them, and could interpose no further objections. As to the right of the city to abandon Negro alley there was no question, as the charter especially provided for this contingency, and even if the city should wish to abandon Spring or Main street, they had a perfect right to do so, as the title was vested in them. There were questions of equity involved, however, so far as the rights of the Negro alley property-owners were concerned, and they should be respected and protected as far as possible.

In the meantime, however, the Los Angeles street people are getting very impatient over the continued delay, as there is a movement on foot to have the street paved before the rainy season sets in, and there is no time to lose. It is believed that everything can be arranged during the week, and that no further litigation will be necessary.

Dunlap White.

Yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock J. B. Dunlap and Miss Laura Comstock White were married at the residence of C. E. Day, at No. 121 Courthouse street, the Rev. W. J. Cliechester of the Presbyterian church officiating. There were about 60 friends of the contracting parties present, and the young couple were the recipients of a number of handsome presents. Mr. Dunlap is a young lawyer of considerable promise, and has for some time past been one of the deputy district attorneys, in which position he has made a good record for himself. The bride is a well-known young lady of this city, and is very popular among a wide circle of acquaintances.

The Gracious Thing.
The following letter, with an accompanying check, was handed to Chief Moriarty yesterday:

D. A. Moriarty, Esq., Chief Los Angeles Fire Department—DEAR SIR: At a meeting of the directors of this bank held on the 4th inst., the sum of $300 was ordered to be paid into the Firemen's Relief Fund as an appreciation of the valuable services rendered in the previous day's fire.

Learning in my attempt to pay over this money that no such organization exists, it is suggested that steps be taken to organize a society that shall have for its object the care of the noble men who imperil their lives in our fire service. Yours,

F. C. HOWES, Cashier.

VERMONT has nobly followed the lead of Oregon. This is surely a Republican year.

There will be a good many astonished people here this winter among our eastern visitors, who have been repeatedly assured that the bottom has dropped out of Southern California.

The Herald persists in making the Chief-of-Police affair a party question. So be it, then! Let it be understood that the Democratic party of Los Angeles accepts the responsibility for Mr. Cuddy's administration.

ANOTHER disappearance of valuable mail is reported, this time between Albany and Chicago. If we get another four years of Civil-service reform, it won't be safe to trust anything worth stealing to the mails.

The Trombone now comes out in defense of Boss Buckley. There must have been more truth than poetry in our recent surmise that the "only pure" is preparing for a grand flop. Or is it a "pure" journal for revenue only.

REPUBLICANS blame the Prohibition people for leaving their camp. Yet they proclaim for taking the revenue tax off whisky, which would reduce this abomination of the cold-water people to twenty-five cents a gallon!—Herald.

And the Prohibitionists, in their national platform, call for the immediate and total removal of the tax. Funny, ain't it?

The Herald is whistling to keep its courage up, but it is easy to read between the lines and see that there is no really genuine, hopeful enthusiasm regarding the outcome of the present campaign. Sensible Democrats must know within themselves that they have not a fighting chance this year, either for county, State or Nation.

The Medical Record doubts whether cheap quinine is such an unalloyed blessing, and claims that the value of the drug, in most diseases for which it is used, is most problematical. The Record is led to make this observation by the fact that nearly every family now has its quinine bottle, and that it is sold at many general stores. When enterprising physicians make a new addition to the materia medica it is heralded as a wonderful discovery and a boon to suffering humanity, but as soon as suffering humanity begins to avail itself of the remedy without the intermediary of a prescription, the "faculty" suddenly discovers that what was once vaunted as a cure for half the ills that flesh is heir to is worthless, if not worse.

Why the South is Democratic.

It has been the boast of southern leaders that with the administration of President Cleveland "the Confederacy is again in the saddle." And it is not a vain boast. Southern Democratic sentiment has too often been the controlling sentiment of Congressional action, instigating the taunts of Southern fire-eaters, which have been insultingly flung into the face of Northern men in the halls of Congress during the recent sessions of that body. The south is still, as it always has been, solidly Democratic as far as its returns go. Whatever is not in keeping with the wishes and the political ends of its autocratic leaders is vigorously suppressed.

Why is the South Democratic? Is it because the South is ignorant—because the masses are illiterate and blindly subservient to their political leaders.

The American people pride themselves upon their intelligence, upon the universality of education, upon the power of the press and of the pulpit. Yet according to late statistics, the proportion of illiterates in the United States to partially educated persons is greater than it is either in Switzerland, Germany, France, England, Scotland or Wales. But it is the illiteracy existing in the Southern States that makes the educational record of the country so bad. Southern Democracy is no friend of popular education. Louisiana, with a population of 649,070, has 318,380 citizens who cannot write, while Massachusetts has but 92,980 out of 1,432,183; Michigan has only 47,112 who cannot read, out of 1,236,686. South Carolina has 369,848 illiterates in a population of only 667,456, while Kansas has only 25,503 in a population of 704,297. More than one-half of the people of Mississippi cannot write their names; a third of the population of Virginia is equally ignorant, and in New Mexico five out of every eight are unable to write.

In Idaho only one person out of every twenty-four is unable to read, and in Illinois (according to the Chicago Inter Ocean), despite of the great influx of foreigners, only one person in every twenty-six is unable to read and write. These figures are based on estimates of a population exceeding ten years of age; it must be borne in mind that many who cannot read or write at ten may be able to do both well at twenty. It is not probable that the percentage of adults resident in the northern tier and unable to read and write exceeds two per cent.

It is in this overshadowing ignorance that the Democratic party found the strength which enabled it to regain its supremacy. It is to this ignorance that it still looks for the support which will enable it to again win success. The free-trade fallacies which it promulgates it does not fear that this southern ignorance will discern, and it is forgetful of the fact that the workmen of the North are thinking men, and not the machines which ignorance has made of its tools in the South. Educate the masses in the Southern States and the Republican party would not be without its representatives in that section. This great party of progress, of protected industries, and of educational intelligence, would then show a strength as great as it has in the North. But until these masses are educated there can be neither freedom in political action, or any great advancement toward wealth and industrial development in the States of the defunct Confederacy.

Responsibility of Lawyers.

Rev. E. B. Fairfield, LL.D., has a strong article in the Advance (Chicago) on the above subject, from which the following passages are taken: "I mean now their responsibility for the carnal of crime that is making this country infamous among the civilized nations—prosecution of the large number of criminals that go untried by justice. In this respect we have a bad eminence. Criminals are far more likely to be punished in Great Britain, France and Germany than in the United States. I think the same is true of other European countries. And American lawyers have a large share of the responsibility for the legal acquittal of men whom they know to be guilty of the crimes charged upon them. I do not mean to hold the lawyers whom the criminals employ solely responsible. But I do not see why a lawyer who, by every possible device and trick in securing a jury, and in other ways works for the acquittal of a man whom he knows to be guilty, is not to be adjudged an accomplice after the fact. 'Don't steal $3000, for you will be punished; but wait till you can steal $5000; then, with $50,000, you can secure legal talent that will insure your acquittal, and you will have a competence left.' Is not the star route thief, I ask again? Is not the lawyer who gets the $50,000 an accomplice in the villainy? When one of Abraham Lincoln's witnesses stated what he knew to be false, although not proved to be so on the trial, he said in his plea: 'I don't want you to be influenced by that testimony. I know it is not true. If I haven't a good case without it, let your verdict be against me.' Man of blessed memory! "Abon Ben Adhem, may his tribe increase!"

THE Herald thinks that Los Angeles would be given a wide berth during fair week if "the rules of a Quaker settlement were established here," which means if the State law is not violated, and gambling permitted. Los Angeles would be a gainer if gamblers would give her a wide berth, not only during fair week, but at all other times. We may remind the Herald that there are several other cities, quite as important as Los Angeles, where "the rules of a Quaker settlement are established" as far as the suppression of gambling is concerned. For instance, San Francisco, New York and Chicago. Notwithstanding this fact, these cities manage to attract a good many visitors.

AGAIN THE TIMES has registered a "scop" on its slow-going contemporaries—this time in a matter of no less importance than the letter of acceptance of His Highness Grover Cleveland, which we gave to an admiring world "on yesterday," as the Trombone would say. Even the local party organ was left on this important piece of news, and it is reported that the able local representative of the "Monarch of the Dailies" has been discharged for failing to secure the item.

THE San Francisco Examiner, in a recent real-estate article, has this to say regarding Los Angeles:

"There is no denying the fact that an utter state of civilization exists in nearly all parts of Southern California, so far as real property is concerned, where the cyclone of excitement recently swept the country."

The Examiner claims to be an enterprising journal. Either it knows that this is false, in which case it wilfully lies; or it does not know the facts, in which case it is not so enterprising as it would have its readers believe.

A PATERSON (N. J.) Englishman writes that in his little city more wage-workers own their homes than they do in the whole of England. The statement is a startling one, and though ridiculed by free-traders, has not been refuted by figures, and is probably true, amazing as it is. It is a very powerful argument in favor of protection.

A WELL-KNOWN business man of Los Angeles, who is also a thorough Democrat, has just returned from a trip through the East and South. He expresses it as his unqualified opinion that the Republicans will win the coming fight; that they will carry New York and Indiana, and possibly Tennessee.

In the last nine Presidential elections Indiana has been carried five times by the Republicans and four times by the Democrats. At the State election in 1886 the Republican majority was 3324. This year it will probably be larger than that.

HERE is what Roger Q. Mills said only a little while ago: "I desire free trade, and I will not help to perfect any law that stands in the way of free trade." And yet the Democrats try to make people believe that they are not in favor of free trade!

THE Toronto World is not beguiled by Toronto Cleveland's message. It says:

"Our idea is that the situation will develop more and more into a fight between Republicans and Democrats rather than a fight between the United States and Canada."

DULL times appear to have little effect on the building of railroads and blocks in this section.

Jonah's Gourd Outdone.

Jonah's gourd that covered the summer-house is equalled by a squash vine in the Arroyo Seco that completely covers a shepherd's shanty. On the roof are three or four large squashes ripening under the September sun, and one squash that started on the vine half way up the hill is proudly perched upon a joint of stovepipe for a support. It is a pretty picture, the squash-vine covered cabin, with the penderous fruit peering out here and there from the leaves, and the shepherd sitting in his cabin door peacefully smoking his pipe.

Mysterious Shooting.

A mysterious shooting affair took place on Hewitt street last Tuesday night, when the officers have so far been unable to solve. A resident in the neighborhood was awakened by a disturbance, and, on looking out of the window, saw two men and a woman quarreling. One of the men commenced to beat the woman, when she drew a revolver and fired at her assailant, when the three scattered and ran. The officers were sent to the scene at a late hour, but could get no clue to the parties.

WASHINGTON.

The Senate Votes on the New Chinese Bill.

Lack of a Quorum Only Prevents the Bill's Passage.

The House Still Debating the Retaliation Measure.

The Senate Tariff Bill Well Fortified with Migrants.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—[By the Associated Press.] The subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Finance engaged in the preparation of a tariff bill this morning received the second print of the new Tariff Bill. It contains interlarded with the text of the bill tables prepared for the convenience of members of the subcommittee showing in parallel columns the rates by the present law, those by the Mills Bill and those provided in the new bill. It is the last print to be made before the measure is laid before the full committee next week. Members of the subcommittee and experts are now preparing matter for a report to accompany the bill. The testimony and statements made to the subcommittee, making about 1500 pages in print, will be formally submitted to the full committee with the bill and report.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—[By the Associated Press.] The Senate. In the Senate Mr. Stewart offered a resolution for the appointment of a select committee to investigate various matters connected with the execution of the laws to public lands and timber depredations.

The Committee on Contingent Expenses, by Mr. Sherman, offered a resolution, which was adopted, requesting the President to inform the Senate whether the recent treaty with China and amendments adopted by the Senate had been ratified by the Emperor of China. He added:

"From statements made in debate yesterday and the day before, it is manifestly due to the dignity of the Senate and to the regular and orderly transaction of public affairs, that the Senate should have this information from the President before proceeding with the Chinese Bill." He hoped the resolution would be transmitted to the President without delay.

Mr. Allison presented the conference report on the Army Appropriation Bill, showing concurrence in all amendments except those in reference to fortifications, etc. A new conference was ordered.

The Senate then proceeded to the consideration of the resolution heretofore offered by Mr. Chandler in relation to the recent election in Louisiana, and was addressed by Mr. Packer.

Upon the conclusion of Senator Packer's remarks the Chinese Restriction Bill was taken up, and Mr. George addressed the Senate by referring to the Chinese immigration of himself and other former slaveholders yesterday by Mr. Teller. He (Mr. George) claimed the right of free speech and free discussion as an American Senator, and held that the fact of his having once been a slave-owner should be no impeachment of that right. Coming to the question of Chinese immigration, Mr. George declared that the Republican party was responsible for the introduction of Chinese into the country by the passage of the act of 1862, which was aimed merely at the coolie trade and not at voluntary immigration.

Mr. Mitchell questioned the correctness of Mr. George's construction of the act of 1862, that it was restrictive only of the coolie trade, and claimed that the object of the law was to prevent the introduction of coolies into the United States.

Mr. George quoted largely from the speeches of Republican Senators in defense of the admission and of the naturalization of Chinamen, and said: "There is the record which your party has made. It stands for itself. It is the record of the American people by the charge that the Senator who brings it before them has been a slaveholder."

He was interrupted by a loud question from Mr. Mitchell, who declined to be diverted from the line of his argument.

The vote was then taken, and was unanimous—yeas, 32; nays, none. But as there was a question of privilege, the Senate adjourned until to-morrow.

SAVING.—In the House, on motion of Mr. Sawyer of Texas, the Senate amendments to the Fortification Bill were non-concurred in. A conference was ordered.

Mr. Stahlacker of New York, rising to a question of privilege, sent to the clerk's desk and had read an article in a newspaper, intimating that he was the member at whom the resolution of inquiry adopted yesterday by the House was aimed. He said, "I am a native-born American, and I would be perfectly willing to abide by the result, regardless of party or personal feelings." [Applause.]

Mr. O'Donnell of Indiana created applause by the introduction of a concurrent resolution for final adjournment of Congress on the 20th inst. Referred to Committee on Ways and Means.

The Committee on Appropriations reported a bill appropriating $300,000 to suppress infection by yellow fever in interstate commerce of the United States. To Committee of the Whole.

The bill to limit the jurisdiction of the United States, district and circuit courts passed.

The bill providing for the exchange of worn or mutilated subsidiary coin at coinage value for new, unwarmed coin was passed.

The House resumed consideration of the Retaliation Bill, and was addressed by Mr. Phelps of New Jersey.

Mr. Phelps cheerfully conceded to the President the additional power asked for, but regretted that there was no more likelihood that he would use this power than that he would use the power given him 18 months ago. Nobody supposed that the powers granted then were not all that were necessary, until August 30th, when the President went out alone and shot the rocket of his Presidential message into the clear and peaceful air. It was so clear that the Senate chamber was still echoing with the voice of the President, that the Irish fellows to come and buy rights which Canada had refused to give. He charged the President with heaping favors on Canadian shippers by exempting and sea, in order that they might compete with their American rivals. The President was now President of a message, not President of a treaty. He was no longer General of Canada, he was President of the United States, and the past would be forgiven. In the course of his remarks Mr. Phelps referred to the definitions made by Mr. O'Neill of Missouri, that the President's message was a good campaign document.

Mr. O'Neill: Don't you think it is?

Mr. Phelps: No; and the gentleman from Kentucky (Mr. McCreary) said that the message ought to be kept with the free-trade message.

Mr. McCreary: I did not say that the message should stand with the free-trade message, for I deny that the President has sent to Congress any free-trade message.

Mr. Phelps said that the gentleman had referred to two messages to which he (Mr. Phelps) alluded. The two messages ought to stand together as the Siamese twins of Presidential policy.

Mr. Belmont said that the President had been informed by the President that the rights of American citizens, and to maintain the dignity and honor of the Nation. We are not Democrats, nor Republicans when confronted with the unfriendly aims of a foreign power.

Mr. Davis of Massachusetts said that the rejected treaty surrendered the New England fisherman naked to his enemies. It was part and parcel of the free-trade conspiracy which was inaugurated in the White House, and continued in the House of Representatives, and sought to prostrate American industry and impoverish and degrade American labor. The utterances of the President in opposition to the entire policy of his administration would not command the confidence of a select committee to investigate various matters connected with the execution of the laws to public lands and timber depredations.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—[By the Associated Press.] The Department of State has received from Gen. Denby, United States Minister to China, in response to an inquiry from Washington, a telegram to the effect that he has no positive information in regard to the action of the Chinese authorities respecting the treaty.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—The Secretary of the Treasury has received a report from Capt. J. B. Smith, commanding the revenue cutter Bear, dated St. Paul's Island, Bering Sea, July 28th. He says that no sealing vessels have been seen or reported in Bering Sea, and that nothing unusual has occurred in that region so far this season.

VENOMOUS VILAS.

The Secretary on the Stump in Wisconsin.

A Loathsome Dose for Badger State Democrats to Swallow.

Cleveland's Henchman Doing Dirty Work in Dirty Fashion.

He Arranges the Republican Party in O'-time Copperhead Fashion, and Adds a Feble Shout for Free Trade and the Free-trade Candidate.

By Telegraph to The Times.

MILWAUKEE (Wis.), Sept. 5.—[By the Associated Press.] William F. Vilas, Secretary of the Interior, opened the Democratic campaign in Wisconsin tonight with a speech at the West Side Turner Hall. The Jeneau, Jefferson and Jackson clubs representing Democratic organizations of the three divisions of the city, escorted him to the hall, where there was an audience of about 1200 persons.

After referring to the duty of voters and challenging criticism of President Cleveland's administration, Vilas said: "I invite you to contrast the conditions, principles and professions of the opposing parties in this contest and the promises of the future afforded by them respectively. What is the Republican party today, and wherein is it better or more worthy of confidence than it was in 1864? It was, in the beginning, more a popular uprising than a political party. It found its origin and quickening power in a high appeal of justice and tenderness for human brethren in oppression, and in the honest zeal of deep convictions. Its following was well nigh fanatical. It was a crusade against a great national sin, and it fell upon the time appointed of heaven for the purification of the Republic by fire. Like a whirlwind it swept on its course of destruction through wholesome violence. Within a decade the evil which had engendered its being was more than destroyed, and the land was struck with a deadly wreck, where, in fantastic chaos, lay the seals, constitution and people amid the wild-fung havoc of war. That was the logical period of the party's existence. It stood upon, or possessed no doctrine of government, no principles for the guidance of institutions of freedom in the repose of peace. It was not national, but sectional. A party for the Civil War, not for national fraternity, but the heart of the victorious people was in its grasp, and the rage of war was long unspent. It was the opportunity of opportunities for the political booter, and never for one moment did they suspend their efforts, nor ever spare an exhausted people. Upon one text and another, from almost the earliest grasp of Republican dominion, corruption began its work and schemes for dishonest enrichment of the few prevailed. It was in 1862 that, pursuing the sentiment that national defense required a transcontinental highway, the Pacific railroad legislation began. It was in 1864 that, by a relentless ingenuity it was so amended to diabolical perfection that the Government really built the roads and gave them, with land enough for an empire, the successful contractor. Then, also, came the earliest act for laying taxes, and afterward, with a greed that lightened with each new glut, every revenue measure was perverted and distorted by ingenious lousies, imperceptible to any but a practiced eye, by which private tribute was extorted from the people five times greater than the tax which it was intended to replace. Then it was that the monstrous vampire, hidden in the tariff, which seductively fans with the wings of protection the laborer whose heart's blood is thus drained, in sin to rob the toiling producers in the fields and forests of the wealth they create; and when war had ceased, a great people, with its coffers unlocked and its resources exposed, lay before the eyes of the nation in the exhaustion of the struggle and the heat of rage, national guardianship was gone. Then followed such a seizure of national wealth by the hands of the rapacious, so gigantic, so ingenious in the methods by which the grasp was laid, as has never been exhibited in history. Nothing is comparable to it, but the war of Warren Hastings. Our nations have been despoiled by conquerors in the open force of unlicensed conquest. This people was robbed by the devilish manipulation of its own legislation and the cunning of the Administration in the hands of its supposed friends."

"The Secretary then referred to corruption in public contracts, pointing upon the partnership of Grant & Ward, to customs-house scandals, undervaluation of imports, navy jobs and star-route contracts, and declared that these and other things of like character had driven the best men in the Republican party out of it—Sumner, Chase, Greeley, Trumbull and Beecher. He declared that the only policy of the only branch of the Government remaining in the hands of the people, was to be represented in two words, obstruction and misrepresentation as to everything for the general good, and he insisted that the continuation of Chief Justice Fuller, the rejection of the fisheries treaty and the delay in passing retaliation measures asked for by President Cleveland."

Turning to the Democratic party the speaker said: "In the Department of State you find everywhere national rights protected and the Republic in peace and good will with all powers of the Republic in the hands of the people. In the Department of the Interior you find everywhere the restoration of lands to the public domain, and the removal of the cattle men from Oklahoma. Much has been said of private bills, and much effort has been made to maintain a theory of ill will to soldiers on the President's part, because of his vetoes. Yet, already more such bills have passed into enacted law under him than during the administration of both Arthur and Hayes, and by the end of his first term the number will be larger than during the administration of Grant, Hayes and Arthur, all together. Another thing to the credit of the Administration was the second emancipation of the colored man, his emancipation from the fear of the Democratic party and the restored dominion of peace and fraternity in the land."

The speaker then took up the tariff question, and dwelt upon it at great length, to show the dangers and injustice of high protective tariff and the advantages which would accrue from a reduction in the import charges in the way of enlarged trade and decreased cost of living. The argument was then mainly made from the farmers' standpoint. In closing, he paid a tribute to the personal character of Gen. Harrison, and eloquently summarized the traits of character for which President Cleveland is conspicuous.

A HURRICANE.
 KEY WEST (Fla.), Sept. 5.—A hurricane passed by Key West last night. No damage has yet been reported in this vicinity. It was probably much stronger in Cuba. Reports from Havana state that houses were unroofed and trees blown down. The storm is still raging.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—The cyclone reported south of Florida yesterday was apparently moved into East Georgia and central southwest of Key West.

HAVANA, Sept. 5.—The expected cyclone struck the island near Sagua, and reached about midnight. Several vessels were blown off the coast, and two sailors were drowned. Many persons were injured.

Threatened Outbreak of Naval War—Mysteri-ramento—New Steamer Line.

By Telegram to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 5.—[By the Associated Press.] R. Porter Ashe, Judge Terry's law partner, filed a suit on Terry's behalf in the Superior Court of this county this afternoon against United States Marshal J. C. Franks for $10,000 damages for alleged false imprisonment in confining him for three hours. Judge Wallace issued an order to take the testimony of Justice Field, as he is about to leave the State, and would not be here at the time the case against Franks is tried.

Judge Terry has very little to say at present. When asked why he had taken any measures to secure his release, he refused to answer, saying that his case was in the hands of his attorneys.

On being questioned in regard to the rumor that she attacked United States Judge Sawyer on board a train, Mrs. Terry said: "Yes, I attacked him, and had good reason for so doing. I was passing through the car and saw Judge Sawyer, and I went up and caught him by the hair and pulled it until he cried for mercy."

The prisoners have received many telegrams from friends expressing sympathy.

SEARCHING FOR "SHORTY."

A Man Said to Have Been Murdered
Reported Alive.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 5.—[By the Associated Press.] On Sunday night the barn on Mrs. Spillman's place was burned, and afterward charred remains, supposed to be those of William Jansen, a farm laborer, better known as "Shorty," were found. It was known that "Shorty" had a fight with one Thomas Kerwin, and on the coroner's investigation the jury returned a verdict charging Kerwin with murder. The latter was then under arrest. Today it was reported that "Shorty" had been seen at various places along the Riverside road. The Chief of Police at once left for the country, and secured enough evidence, it is said, to warrant the belief that Jansen is not dead. The police are now looking for him.

The Railroad Commissioners

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 5.—Before the State Board of Railroad Commissioners today, complaints having been made that freight rates on the San Francisco, Alameda and North Pacific line are 20 per cent. higher than on any other line in the State, it was suggested that the company's officials appear and show cause why the freight tariff should not be reduced. Secretary Gaskill called attention to the fact that the new tariff had just been adopted by the line in question. It was decided to meet again on the 20th inst., and to have the Donahue line's managers appear then and explain their freight rates.

THE OUTLOOK FOR WOOL.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—Jacobson & Co., wool brokers, have issued a circular regarding the wool trade. It says: "Since the last auction sale business has been extremely quiet. The sales have amounted to 1200 bales, 800 of which were South African. A brisk consumption is reported in the woolen and worsted districts, and stocks of raw material must be shortening. The outlook for the wool trade is, therefore, will be especially light, and therefore the position should be strong at the concluding sales of November 27th. Inclement weather in Australia and strikes at shearing time may leave the supply slightly supplied with new Australian wool."

THE POLICE MUDDLE.

Charges to Be Preferred Against Capt. Loomis.

According to all reports, the police fight is growing fiercer every day, and from all the indications the mud-slinging is just about to become in real earnest. It is now understood that the City of London is preparing an elaborate set of charges against Capt. Loomis, which will be presented to the commission, and the Captain's dismissal asked for. Among other things, the Captain, it is said, will be charged with having taken money from lawyers for keeping them posted as to prisoners in the jail, and allowing them to be interviewed. In other words, the lawyer was a man brought in who had any money on his person (that is, enough to make it an object), the Captain would notify the lawyer, and the lawyer would be "standing in" who would come to the station, be admitted to see the prisoner, and if he secured a fee would divide with the Captain, the sum he received ranging from $5 to $15, according to the amount the lawyer was willing to extort from the client. It is said that this specific charge will be supported by an affidavit sworn to before Sidney Lacey, notary public, by Hugh J. Crawford, an attorney of this city. The effect of that when he got a case at the City Prison under these circumstances, he "loaned" the Captain from $5 to $10 for his services in sending to him, it may be well to state that it has been common talk about the station that this practice has been followed for years back, and when Loomis went to the office he knew that this had been done. He did not have long to wait before the same proposition was made to him, which he declined. Not only this, but to be on the safe side, he told at least one man about the whole occurrence less than 30 minutes after it took place, giving the amount offered and the circumstances under which the offer was made. A short time after this the attorney in question had some trouble about the station, and did not show up there for some time. But afterward came to the man to whom Loomis had told the story about him offering the money, and without saying anything about that little incident, told the aforesaid party his version of his trouble at the station.

There has also been considerable talk of the Captain's relations with the Chinese, and it is said that he will be charged with having received money from them.

Further developments in this case will be watched with interest, for the more the subject is probed, the more chance there is of everything coming out, and the bottom facts of the whole matter reached.

The Jewish New Year.

The Jewish new year commenced yesterday at sunset, and all over the world its chosen people gathered in their synagogues to open the coming year with song and prayer. In the synagogue on Fort street a large gathering assembled. Rabbi Schreiber read from the sacred books of the Talmud, and on either side sat the elders of the congregation. The quietude under Musical Director Leeb sang hymns of praise and sweet music in the mystic Hebrew tongue, alternated with the solemn reading of the mantras of the great Jehovah. As the Rabbi read and prayed, the congregation followed him in devout silence. A beautiful solo by the cantors, followed by a benediction, concluded the services, and then these present passed out, wishing each other a happy new year.

THAT ROBBERY.

Mr. Stolp's Experience with Foot-pads—The Thru a Mass.

A reporter of THE TIMES obtained yesterday from G. M. Stolp, the manager of the National Life Insurance Company, the correct version of that robbery on Figueroa street last Tuesday night. The robbery occurred not at midnight, but at about 10 p. m. Mr. Stolp had driven homeward from uptown, and left his horse and carriage at the livery stable at the corner of Pico and Pearl streets. Then starting for his home at 123 Ellis avenue, he walked along the west side of Figueroa toward Ellis street. In front of him were three men walking abreast, and when Mr. Stolp came alongside, he stepped out to pass them. As he did so, the one nearest him wheeled around and thrust a revolver into his face, at the same time ordering him to throw up his hands. Mr. Stolp backed away and struck at him, when the other two came behind him and to his other side and seized him, also drawing pistols.

The gang then went through their captive and cleaned him out. Their booty consisted of about $15 in currency, a gold watch that cost $165, gold chain, Knight Templar's charm, etc., aggregating about $250. What was greatly valued by the loser was a silver keystone associated with Masonic ceremonies of years ago. The rascals then became suddenly frightened and ran quickly across Figueroa street, when they vanished. When they wheeled on Mr. Stolp he discovered that they were masked, but during the struggle tore the mask from the taller one of the two.

TO THE PUBLIC.

The Bituminous Lime Rock Paving and Improvement Company.

Take this opportunity of informing the citizens and property-owners of this city that the pavement laid on Main street, between First and Third streets, is not bituminous lime rock, but is an artificial mixture, and not laid by our company. We make this announcement for the purpose of disabusing the minds of those who entertain the belief that this pavement was laid by this company, and are disposed to criticize our material as being soft and not suitable for the streets of this city. The only bituminous lime rock pavement here was laid by this company, and extends on Main street from the south line of Third to Ninth street, and on Spring street from Temple to Ninth street. Bituminous lime rock does not become soft and mushy under the heat of the sun, but always remains firm and elastic. We have already laid on the streets of this city about 500,000 square feet of this pavement, to which we take pleasure in inviting inspection. Very respectfully yours, Bituminous Lime Rock Paving and Improvement Company.

PASADENA.

A SCREEN FROM THE CROWN OF THE VALLEY.

He Writ a Card—Raymond Improvements—Opera-house Lessees—High License and a Tariff for Revenue Only—Various Ordinances.

PASADENA, Sept. 5.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] A series of improvements, most extensive and expensive, is in progress at the widely-known hostelry. Mr. Bean, the cashier and manager, has so far recovered from his recent severe illness as to go about the house and immediate grounds and look after the immense interests under his charge. Mr. Bean informs your correspondent that the heating capacity of the house will, under the new arrangements narrated below, be sufficient even for a Boston winter. A complete system of large steam-pipes now runs under the entire building, with lateral branches at intervals, and the steam will be furnished by enormous new boilers. Steam radiators, 75 in number, are just being placed in position. The faded curtains are to be superseded by new ones of a color somewhat like the body of the building. Two large dynamos, with a power of 275 lights each, are to be used for furnishing light in the corridors, dining-room and grounds. A carload of plants, with which to embellish the house and grounds, is expected daily, and immediately on its arrival men will be put to work to set out the plants in their appropriate places. The hotel will not be regularly opened for business for some time yet, and the first excursion parties will be provided for at the Painter Hotel, until the other building shall be fully prepared for its army of guests. The new parties published lately in certain daily papers, in regard to the Hotel Raymond, are designated by Mr. Bean as being fictitious, in fact, wholly incorrect, and capable of doing damage by reason of their untruthfulness.

ENFORCEMENT. Dr. H. A. Reid had a card in the Star today, denying the story printed in the Union of this city, and noticed in today's issue of THE TIMES. The gentleman denies the allegation and defies the "alligator." Why cannot the brethren dwell together in unity? Some parties may succeed in getting themselves disliked before this business is finally disposed of.

THE NEW OPERA-HOUSE. Various parties are named as applicants for the lease of the new opera-house in this city. Among others are named Messrs. Lesser & Hyde, McLain & Lehman, Harry C. Wyatt and G. E. Monfort. Among such an array of talent it is hard to choose, but if the serious had the settlement of the question, as a matter of sentiment, at any rate, Harry Wyatt, manager of the Chilis Opera-house, would probably grasp the plum.

HIGH LICENSE. The petition asking Council for a high-license ordinance, or to put the question to a popular vote, which has been in circulation for several days, now has something over 500 signatures, and it is said these signatures are all actual, bona fide voters, sufficient to carry the question affirmatively should popular expression of opinion be deemed necessary.

CONCEALED WEAPONS. Another petition to the Board of City Trustees asks the passage of an ordinance prohibiting the carrying of concealed weapons. This ordinance should by all means be at once passed and go into operation. Some of the stories told by members of our city police and detective force of the prevalence of the practice of carrying weapons by the "hoodlum" element are appalling to all law-abiding citizens. The practice should be checked, and with no gentle hand.

The Stereopticon Exhibition Committee from the Board of Trade is hard at work to make a grand success of the entertainment at the Tabernacle tomorrow night. But the committee cannot furnish the people nor the two-bit pieces necessary for admittance. Let a rousing big house be the result of their labors to entertain and also advertise this city. Turn out, everybody, on tomorrow night. Made it a hummer.

PERSONAL ITEMS. The Western Union Telegraph Company's office, on East Colorado, is donning a coat of paint, and none too soon.

Officer Petrie's family returned to the city today, much refreshed after their lengthy stay at the beach.

Quite a party of young people started on a mountain trip today, intending to scale Wilson's Peak and spend several days among the mountain pleasures. The party included Misses Dora Kirk, Sadie Yore, Clara Rogers, Ella Hadley, Robbie Hinchen and Nellie Hyatt, while Messrs. Will T. Squiers, Cal Owens, O. K. Young, George Taylor, Ed Wilson and I. Wilson will escort the fair ladies, and keep the bears away.

A number of Pasadena people join the Warner excursion tomorrow. A party headed by Addison Ball go to Camp Ressita for a few days' recreation. J. V. Carson and family and Miss McCullough departed today for a week's vacation at Long Beach.

DRS. D. & B.

Several well known and experienced practitioners, who are graduates of the most reputable colleges of the United States and Great Britain, have established themselves in the city for the treatment of all chronic and difficult cases. The firm is known by the name Drs. D. & B.

A WORD TO LADIES. We are especially prepared to treat diseases of your delicate organism, such as Irrigations, Painful Menstruation, Diseases of the Womb, etc. We will guarantee a cure in every case undertaken. If we cannot cure you we will not treat you.

We will cure prolapsus (falling of the womb) and other displacements in every case, no matter how long standing, without the use of a supporter.

Our specialist in this department, by the aid of MEDICAL INJECTION, is able to cure cases where every known means have hitherto failed. Owing to this treatment numerous of our patients enjoy the best of health. Our friends and family physicians cannot bring about a cure of a disease which we can cure. CATARRH is not merely relieved, but a permanent cure is effected, as patients treated four years ago with no return of the disease will testify.

Our Oculist and Aurist is one of the most successful practitioners in this line in the United States. Operative treatment of the eye can be performed at home. The blind can be made to see and the deaf to hear.

Our specialist in rheumatism is meeting with the greatest success. If there is any known treatment which will benefit the patient, he will be able to inform you, and treat you accordingly.

Our venereal blood remedies will remove a blood taint, whether hereditary or acquired, such as Syphilis, Scrofula, Erysipelas, etc.

We will entirely remove the evil effects of a previous treatment of mercury or iodine of Potash. Patients who have been cured at the springs of the blood disease, but who suffer now almost as much with mercurial poisoning, will do well to consult us.

Many young men have given away to follies in their early youth, the evil effects of which are not recognized perhaps for years, and sometimes not till middle life, when the well-known symptoms present themselves. Dizziness, bad taste in the mouth, forgetfulness, loss of energy, weak back, loss of manhood, a cross dream, etc. Let not a sense of false modesty prevent you from seeking relief at once. Delay will oftentimes lead to insanity or death. We will guarantee a cure in every case if the patient has any constitution left.

Young men who consult us for any ailment will be treated by special methods, experience and success is guaranteed by few, if any.

CONSULTATION FREE.
